WHAT WE SECURED

- A clean, workable warehouse with a container height roller door
- Direct street frontage with clear, easy access from the road
- A practical ground level layout with no wasted mezzanine space
- Compact grouping of units instead of a sprawling industrial estate

CLIENT BACKSTORY

David spends his weeks on construction sites and was buying his first industrial property through his super fund, briefed around frontage, access and land. After dozens of inspections across the city, the pick of his shortlist passed in at auction with him holding first right.

"I had parked across the road for years. Propertybuyer put my name on the title."

– DAVID

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- The street frontage occupiers in this precinct pay a premium for
- It has the land content that quietly carries value in this class
- A size and format scarce enough to keep the rent reviews moving
- Positioned where small occupiers cluster and rarely want to leave

WHAT WE SECURED

- A prime retail freehold with frontage to two separate streets
- A complete diner and commercial kitchen fit out ready to trade
- Two self-contained shops held under the one freehold title
- Land only half covered by the building, the balance in reserve

CLIENT BACKSTORY

Coral had grown exasperated hunting for the right shop to trade from, working through precinct after precinct without a result. The search ended at a rare freehold opposite the railway station, an island holding with frontage to more than one street.

"I trade from one shop and lease the other. Propertybuyer saw that angle first."
– CORAL

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- A position directly opposite the railway station and its daily flow
- One shop to occupy and one to lease, keeping the holding flexible
- Municipal laneway plans next door that promise value still to come
- Underlying land at a scale that anchors the value beneath the shops

WHAT WE SECURED

- A tilt panel warehouse with a smartly presented office fit out
- An office suite across two levels complete with dual kitchens
- Ample parking on site with easy movement around the building
- Immaculate presentation and condition through the whole property

CLIENT BACKSTORY

This owner occupier wanted a warehouse the business could occupy from day one, with an office component smart enough for client meetings. The building that won them over presented a clear step above every option they had walked through before it.

"The building spoke for itself at the door. Propertybuyer got us there first."

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- Direct access to major roads keeps freight and staff moving simply
- A functional two level layout separating office from warehouse floor
- Presentation sharp enough to host clients without further spend
- Local amenity close by that makes staffing the site an easier sell

WHAT WE SECURED

- A compact retail holding with an efficient, usable floor plate
- Direct street frontage set squarely before the passing trade
- A practical open interior suited to a broad sweep of retail uses
- Neat, self-contained premises with nothing surplus to carry

CLIENT BACKSTORY

This investor wanted retail income underwritten by a lease rather than promises, in a strip where the passing trade does the convincing on its own. A compact shop with a dependable tenant and years still to run on the term brought the search to a close.

"The tenant was the real selling point. Propertybuyer verified every detail."

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- A lease with years still to run and options carrying it well beyond
- A dependable tenant already trading, so the income starts on day one
- It sits amid commercial amenity that keeps the foot traffic constant
- A yield firm enough to carry the holding from the very first week

WHAT WE SECURED

- A brand new medical suite designed to a crisp modern standard
- A quality medical fit out running through the entire interior
- High-quality finishes selected with real care in every detail
- Modern, considered design detailed impressively at every turn

CLIENT BACKSTORY

This owner occupier wanted modern medical premises to occupy on their own terms, with a brief centred squarely on design quality and finishes. They committed off the plan to a suite still being completed, kept confident throughout by prompt updates at every stage of the build.

"Every update came before we asked. Propertybuyer matched our brief to the letter."

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- A prestigious precinct address that lifts the standing of the occupier
- It has the modern design and finish quality the brief was built around
- Ownership of the premises the business will occupy for years to come
- New building quality that should keep the asset easy to hold long term

CLIENT BACKSTORY

Geoff was searching for office premises his business could own and occupy, with generous floor space and a position that works for staff and clients alike. He secured a two-level building with a quality new fit out, presented sharply enough to impress from the street.

"Two levels, parking and presence. Propertybuyer delivered the lot in one address."

– GEOFF

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- A convenient position that keeps the daily commute easy for the team
- It has the street presence that quietly promotes the business every day
- Room across two levels for the whole operation to spread out properly

WHAT WE SECURED

- A neatly contained retail space of an easily manageable scale
- Main road frontage that puts the shopfront on full display
- An interior kept simple enough to suit almost any style of trade
- Tidy, well-kept presentation from the footpath through the door

CLIENT BACKSTORY

Ruth was weighing a move into commercial property and wanted the detail behind every recommendation rather than just the headline appeal. She settled on a retail holding with a long lease already in place, the stable long-term prospect her questions had been circling.

"I asked every question twice. Propertybuyer had the detail ready each time."
– RUTH

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- A lease running long into the future, with options stretching further
- It has the stable, long-term income her brief placed above all else
- A tenant already in place, so the income needs no work to switch on
- Constant passing trade that underwrites the strength of the position

WHAT WE SECURED

- A substantial tilt panel warehouse of genuinely impressive scale
- Quality finishes presented fresh through the fitted interior
- A crisp, professional standard of presentation across the site
- Clean, hard-wearing construction with years of easy service ahead

CLIENT BACKSTORY

Jamie and Tamara wanted a substantial industrial asset with the income sorted from the outset, not a project demanding years of patience first. They secured a quality tilt panel warehouse with a stable tenant trading inside and a yield strong enough to speak for itself.

"Stable tenant, strong yield, no drama. Propertybuyer delivered all three at once."

– JAMIE & TAMARA

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- A stable tenant whose lease keeps the income reliable month to month
- It has the strong yield that made the numbers work from the first look
- An industrial precinct where occupier demand stays consistently deep
- Asset scale that positions the holding for serious long-term growth

WHAT WE SECURED

- A solidly built tilt panel warehouse kept in very good order
- A bespoke internal fit out of clearly higher than usual quality
- Generous, workable floor space with practical access throughout
- Neat, functional presentation across the whole of the property

CLIENT BACKSTORY

Mishal wanted his industrial purchase anchored in an area chosen on its merits, selected on evidence rather than guesswork or habit. He ended up with a quality tilt panel warehouse in a prime industrial pocket, complete with a tenant installed and the income underway.

"The area was chosen on evidence, not habit. Propertybuyer showed me exactly why."

– MISHAL

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- An industrial pocket selected deliberately for its long-run strength
- It has the tenant demand that keeps quality warehouses fully occupied
- A tenant holding a lease that keeps the income ticking from the start
- Scarcity of quality industrial stock that supports the value long term

CLIENT BACKSTORY

This organisation was buying offices for its own people to work from, with a firm budget and no appetite for drifting past it. They secured newly fitted premises in a private yet convenient position, finished to the standard they had hoped their budget would reach.

"We had a budget and a standard. Propertybuyer met both without blinking."

– COMMUNICATIONS & PLUMBING

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- A private position that still keeps everyday amenity close at hand
- It has the finish quality the organisation had set as its benchmark
- Premises held in its own name, settling the question of tenure for good
- Room for the whole operation with parking solved on the same title

WHAT WE SECURED

- A metal clad industrial warehouse of genuinely serious scale
- An expansive workable floor that dwarfs the average industrial unit
- Straightforward, functional construction built for hard daily use
- Sound, workmanlike condition throughout the entire building

CLIENT BACKSTORY

Martin wanted serious industrial scale with the income already proven, not a modest unit that would cap what the holding could ever become. He secured a metal clad warehouse of genuine size, with a strong tenant trading inside and a yield well worth the commitment.

"Scale, tenant and yield all lined up. Propertybuyer found the full package."

– MARTIN

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- It has the strong tenant whose trading keeps the income dependable
- A yield high enough to carry the holding comfortably on its own
- Sheer floor space of a scale that rarely reaches the open market
- An industrial corridor where big footprints stay permanently scarce

CLIENT BACKSTORY

Horatio was branching into industrial property and wanted every stage of the purchase explained rather than assumed, right down to the legal work. He was guided step by step, introduced to commercial solicitors along the way, and settled a tenanted tilt panel warehouse.

"Every step was new to me. Propertybuyer walked me through it all, start to finish."

– HORATIO

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- An industrial market where tenant demand runs consistently ahead of stock
- A lease already in place, giving the income a settled starting point
- It has the build quality that keeps industrial outgoings predictable
- The compact format small occupiers favour, keeping leasing options open

- A clean, professional interior that presents well to visitors
- Prominent main road frontage that keeps the address easy to find

CLIENT BACKSTORY

Stella was buying from overseas and every conversation had to cross time zones, with no way to sit at the negotiating table herself. She secured a commercial office carrying a long lease, the price argued down on her behalf while she was asleep on the other side of the world.

"The negotiation happened while I slept. Propertybuyer won it on my behalf."
– STELLA

WHY WE CHOSE THIS PROPERTY

- A lease running long with options that stretch the security further
- It has the settled tenancy that makes holding from overseas simple
- An income stream reliable enough to manage across any time zone
- Commercial demand in the precinct deep enough to protect the value
